Beytomber 29. DAILY GAZETTE.

From the Cincinnati Press. Mr. Douglas as a Backer of Lincoln and the Union.

Mr. Douglas has an excellent faculty of setting up a principle and then kicking the bottom out of it. His great principle of popular sovereignty, which came over in the Mayflower, has a proviso that "the measure" of sovereignty that the people may exercise shall be decided by the supreme court. No supreme court came over in the Mayflower, so the imported article, in the original package, must have been defective.

At Norfolk he was very bold, and in response to the question, declared that the election of Lincoln, without any overt when the proposed to back Lincoln in treating the secessionists as Gen. Jackson proposed to do the nullifiers. But in the same breath he said, that in his judgment, the political opinions of Mr. Lincoln were hostile to the Constitution and the safety of hostile to the Constitution and the safety of the Union;" also, that "in the event of the success of the Northern abolitionists, the union and our glorious Constitution are put in peril and jeopardy."

We suppose that the opinions of Mr. Licoln, which Mr. Douglas thinks will to the Constitution and the Union, are those in regard to the power of Congress to exclude slavery from the Territories. But Mr. Douglas says this is a question for the supreme court. The President appoints he judges and in case of the election of Lincoln he may, in the ordinary course of nature, have an opportunity to appoint a majority of the court. Then his opinions, which are hostile to the Constitution and the Union, will by a judicial decision become a part of the Constitution. Still Mr. Douglas would be compelled to sustain him, although he had subverted the Constitution, because he had committed no "overt act."

We hardly know what Mr. Douglas meant by telling the Virginians that he would take just as much pleasure in hanging "take just as much pleasure in hanging Lincoln if he transcended his constitutional powers, as he felt pleasure in knowing that they hung John Brown." We do not know how a man can feel pleasure in knowing that any man was hanged or take pleasure in being a hangman. It is a very low, as well as a very brutal pleasure. But if the President can appoint the court whose decisions make the constitution, how can he possibly make the constitution, how can he possibly transcend his constitutional powers? Yet, Mr. Donglas promises to stand by a President in subverting the constitution and anticipates pleasure in hanging the southerners who may stand by the integrity of that instrument.

If the supreme court has supreme power over constitutional and political questions, and their decisions are the constitution, then the election of a President who appoints the judges, and whose opinions are nostile to the constitution and the Union, is an overt act against both; and instead of waiting till the inauguration, and till the constitution and Union have both passed into the power of an enemy to them, the south should secede at once. It is, according to Mr. Douglas' own theory of government, the only way to defend the constitu-

Mr. Douglas can not expect that the south will remain inactive until the Union and the constitution and the appointment of the supreme court have passed into the power of one who, he says, is hostile to the consti-tution and Union, merely because they dif-fered in regard to the policy of nominating him. Really, if Mr. Lincoln is what Mr. Douglas represents him, his running for the Presidency, is an "overt act," and Mr. Douglas is logically bound by his own dec-laration, to claim the pleasure of hanging

Furthermore, if our constitution is subect to a supreme court, which may be appointed by a President who is hostile to it the sooner it is overthrown the better. If that is what our "glorious fabric of government" has come to, then, if the southerners will lead off in such a revolution, they will deserve to be classed with Hancock, and Jefferson, and Henry, and John Adams, and the rest of the Revolutionary patriots. One of the most remarkable establish ments in England, or indeed in any country, is that where the improved description of stearic candles are now manufactured. An immense room is fitted up, throughout its entire extent, with parallel benches, running from one end of the apartment to the other. In these benches, ranged close to gether in a perpendicular direction, are the candle moulds, which, viewed from above, their open mouths present the appearance of a vast honey comb, commensurate with the size of the room itself. Along the top of each bench, one hundred and four feet in length, there runs a railway; and, working on this railway is what might be termed à candle locomotive-a large car run ning on wheels, containg the candle mate rial. The wicks having been adjusted tru-ly in the long axis of the mould, the loconotive advances and deposits in each line of moulds exactly material enough to fil them, proceeding regularly from one end of the bench to the other. After a sufficient time has elapsed to allow them to cool, preparations are made to withdraw them from their moulds. This is done in a very ingenious manner. In an apartment close at hand, an iron boiler of great thickness is filled with highly compressed air, by a pump worked by a steam engine; pipes from this powerful motive communicate with every distinct candle mould, and convey to it a pressure of air equal to forty ive pounds to the square inch, about the surface of the diameter of the candle.-Those candle moulds and the air pump constitute an immense air gun containing thousands of barrels, each barrel loaded with a candle. The turning of a cock by boys in attendance, lets off the guns and ejects the candles with a slight hissing noise.

CAPITAL AND SUBILUS,

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt I paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few quals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class: bonds and mortgages upon property M. New York and Braddon—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below per, and are every way more reliable and pernament than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluchinations of the market, and liable, in times of parie, as the experience of the past tenches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-stiled statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding, risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for illeral patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a creativity given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

popular sovereignty, which came over in the Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad. Mayflower, has a proviso that "the measure" OHANGE OF TIME. of sovereignty that the people may exercise shall be decided by the supreme court. No supreme court came over in the Mayflower, so the imported article, in the original package, must have been defective. At Nortolk he was very bold, and in response to the question, declared that the lection of Lincoln, without any "overt act " on his part, against the Constitution, would not be any cause for Southern seceswould not be any cause for Southern seession, and he proposed to back Lincoln in treating the seessionists as Gen. Jackson proposed to do the mullifiers. But in the same breath he said, that in his judgment, "the political opinions of Mr. Lincoln were hostile to the Constitution and the safety of the Union of the Lincoln where the line that the safety of the Lincoln where the line that the safety of the Lincoln where the line that the safety of the Lincoln where the line that the safety of the line of the line that the safety of the line of the Union;" also, that" in the event of the success of the Northern abolitionists, the Union and our glorious Constitution are put in peril and jeopardy."

We suppose that the opinions of Mr. Lincoln, which Mr. Douglas thinks hostile to the Constitution and the Union, are those Galena and Chicago Union Raticoad. in regard to the power of Congress to exclude slavery from the Territories. But Mr. Douglas says this is a question for the supreme court. The President appoints the judges and in case of the election of Lincoln he may, in the ordinary course of nature, have an opportunity to appoint a majority of the court. Then his opinions, which are hostile to the Constitution and the Union, will by a judicial decision become a part of the Constitution. Still Mr. Douglas would be compelled to sustain him, although he had subverted the Constitution, because he had committed no "overt act."

We hardly know what Mr. Douglas meant by telling the Virginians that he would "take just as much pleasure in hanging Lincoln if he transcended his constitutional powers, as he felt pleasure in knowing that they hung John Brown." We do not know how a man can feel pleasure in knowing that any man was hanged or take pleasure in being a hangman. It is a very low, as well as a very brutal pleasure. But if the President can appoint the court whose decisions make the constitution, how can be possibly transcend his constitutional powers? Yet, Mr. Douglas promises to stand by a President in subverting the constitution and anticipates pleasure in hanging the southerners who may stand by the integrity of that instrument.

If the supreme court has supreme power over constitutional and political questions, and their decisions are the constitution, then the election of a President, who appoints the judges, and whose opinions are hostile to the constitution and the Union, is un'overt act against both; and instead of waiting till the inauguration, and till the constitution and Union have both passed constitution and the appointment of the supreme court have passed into the power of one who, he says, is hostile to the constitution and Union, merely because they differed in regard to the policy of nominating him. Really, if Mr. Lincoln is what Mr. Douglas represents him, his running for the Presidency, is an "overt act," and Mr. Douglas is logically bound by his own declaration, to claim the pleasure of hanging

Furthermore, if our constitution is subject to a supreme court, which may be appointed by a President who is hestile to it. the sconer it is overthrown the better. If that is what our "glorious fabric of government" has come to, then, if the southerners will lead off in such a revolution, they will deserve to be classed with Hancock, and Jefferson, and Henry, and John Adams, and candle moulds, which, viewed from above, their open mouths present the appearance of a vast honey comb, commensurate with the size of the room itself. Along the top of each bench, one hundred and four feet in length, there runs a railway; and, working on this railway is what might be termed a candle locomotive—a large car running on wheels, containg the candle material. The wicks having been adjusted truly in the long axis of the mould, the locomotive advances and deposits in each line of moulds exactly material enough to fill them, proceeding regularly from one end of the bench to the other. After a sufficient time has elapsed to allow them to cool, preparations are made to withdraw them from their moulds. This is done in a very ingenious manner. In an apartment close at hand, an iron boiler of great thickness is filled with highly compressed air, by a pump worked by a steam engine; pipes from this powerful motive communicate with every distinct candle mould, and convey to it a pressure of air equal to forty ave pounds to the square incb, about the surface of the diameter of the candle.-Those candle moulds and the air pump constitute an immense air gun containing thousands of barrels, each barrel loaded with a candle. The turning of a cock by boys in attendance, lets off the guns and ejects the candles with a slight hissing noise.

New York is one of the states claimed by some of the more impudent Douglasites. A like claim was set up in 1856, and with equal justice. New York is sure to Lincoln by a majority of from 50,000 to 100,-000. Of that we have not the slightest

From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1850.

The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patitotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the bleasings of our glorious Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of frateronl affection, and calculated to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb." From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1850.

From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise, [Cheer.] I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know upon that questich. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including slaves) in the territories during their territorial state."—Herschel V. Johnson.

From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860. From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860.
"It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into slave territory, more than five times the size of the state of New York.—Under this dectrine slavery has been excluded from the Rio Grande to the Gulf of Chilfornia, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 36 deg. 30 min., but up to 88 deg.—giring you a degree and a half more state territory than you ever claimed."

The sovereign power of congress over the national territories we affirm was never disputed previous to 1847, when Lewis Cass, then the democratic candidate for the Pres. idency, gave birth in his famous Nicholson letter to squatter sovereignty or non-intervention. It was a doctrine practically carried out by the first congress under the federal constitution by the passage of the celebrated Ordinance of 1787-a measure that dedicated the great northwest to freedom and made her the granary and store-house of the nation. The territorial bills of Washington and Oregon in which were embodied slavery restrictions, go also to show the power that congress has exercised in the control of the territories. The organic act for the territory of Oregon received the official signature of James K. Polk, then President of the United States, a slave-holdder and a zealous advocate for human bondage. The same doctrine has been affirmed by the supreme court of the United States, and by the learned opinions of such eminent jurists as Chief Justice Marshall, Justices Story and Barbour. Judge Story in his exposition of the constitution and especially upon the clause-"That congress shall have power to make all needful rules and regulations for territories," says "The right of congress to acquire territory either by purchase or conquest, must necessarily carry along with it the power to regulate and govern that which they have acquired."

Again in 1846 this doctrine was endorsed by the house of representatives by the passage of the Wilmot proviso, and the senate would have done the same had it not been on the eye of adjournment. The Wilmot proviso embodying the same principles as the Jeffersonian ordinance of 1787, was endorsed by every northern state with the exception of Iowa. It was sanctioned by state legislatures and by the state conventions of both whig and democratic parties at the north as the true cardinal doctrine of their political creed upon the slavery question. The position taken by the leading statesmen of the country both north and south previous to 1848 was that the American people were the proprietors of the national territories acquired by the common treasure of the republic, and that their representatives in congress were the trustees or guardians of the territories while in their infancy until they had attained the requisite population and resources to enable them to clothe themselves with state sovereignty, as a part and parcel of the federal Union .-Senator Douglas gave it his hearty indorsement on able speech in the senate in 1858, and in 1849 in his Springfield speech he declared that the Missouri compact restricting slavery from all us, Louisiana purchase north of 36° 30', had harmonised both north and south and calmed the waves of slavery agitation, and had been acquiesced in so long that it had become canonized in the hearts of the American people.

In fact, there is no end to the proof, to establish the rights of congress to exercise given, a refutation or denial is very apt to her power over the territories of the Union. The supreme court of the United States have so declared by repeated decisions.-Congress, ever since our organization as a government, down to 1848, have so declared al days thereafter he is too dangerous to it, by numerous acts and measures. The keep around the house.

decisions of the courts, both state and federal, have been to the same effect until the decision of the supreme court in the Dred Scott case, which is the only one in opposition to the long chain of precedents and decisions in the past history of the government. MAINE ELECTION .- The state of Maine holds an election to morrow. It has been rangements, we presume a host from Rock for years a strong republican state, and is claimed to be good for 20,000 majority by the republican papers there. - Mil. News.

Yet we remember distinctly of seeing in the News a claim that the state would elect the democratic candidate for governor and go for Douglas.

The contest in the northern states is be tween Douglas and Lincoln, and a vote which is not thrown directly for one or the other, is worse than thrown away. - Peoria

Granting that this is true, every man of common discretion must see that Douglas can carry none of these "northern states," and therefore a vote which is not thrown directly for Lincoln, "is worse than thrown

And even if there was a chance of Donglas carrying one or two northern states— (and his more candid supporters don't claim any more) - every vote that will be cast here for any other candidate than Lin-coln, will still be "worse than thrown away." for it would be thrown in favor of takin the election of a president out of the hands of the people, to whom it belongs, and entrusting it to the pro-slavery United States senate, where Joe Lane would be chosen by the fire eaters.

A vote for Douglas is a vote for Joe

Lane, just as surely as a blow aimed at a small stake in the ground, and missing it, will strike the earth.

Illinois voters, who feel any state pride in the matter, have but one question to ask themselves: Shall we cast our votes for Douglas, who cannot possibly be elected, or shall we vote for Lincoln, who, only, of the two Illinois and western candidates, can be elected.—Chicago Journal.

OUT FOR BRECKINRIDGE .- Now that the proposition to unite the whole party in Con-necticut has failed, the Hartford Times, which has hitherto kept non-committed, comes out with the names of Breckinridge and Lane at the head of its columns, and publishes a call for a mass convention at New Haven on the 12th of September, to nominate electors.

ENGLISH AND FRENCH ACADEMY Located at Sauk City, Wisconsin. H. J. TURNER, A. M., PRINCIPAL

5th Academic Year.

THIS Institution is strictly a Family Boarding School, and is under the immediate supervision of Prof. Trunks, formerly of Utlea, N. Y. Prof. Turner's long experience as a teacher, the heautiful and ample playgrounds attached to his residence and Academy, and experience as a section, the teather and Arademy, and their healthful position, recommend them to the parents who should wish to confide their children to the care of Prof. Turner, who will superintend the studies of the Institution, and give his particular attention to the modern languages. The French, being the language of the family, will be the language of the Institution.—German and Spanish are also written and spoken. Prof. Turner will guarantee that, independent of their other studies, his pupils will, at the close of the sholastic year, speak and write the French language. When pupils are far enough advanced in French, instruction will be given in Spanish or Italian.

Mrs. Turner will devote her attention to the Family Department; her kindness and long exderience quality her well to discharge the difficult duties of that station, and she will spare no efforts to secure the comfort of all confided to her care.

LEVI ALDEN, Clerk. CIRCUIT COURT FOR ROCK COUNTY.

YOUNG AMERICA FOREVER! "Come one, come all, this Rock shall fly From its firm base, as soon as I."

SUCH were the stiring words of James Fitz James to the bold chieftain, Rhoderick Dhu, in the Mountain Passes of Scotland, and now

MOSES HARSH, Proprietor of the Original Young America

CLOTHING HOUSE. dopts the language of the gallant Scottish here as his own, and defies the competition and braggart blowing of all the Petty Slop Shops in the land. From the fact that the Original Young America Clothing House has held for the last EIGHT YEARS the conceded reputation of bring the best and largest and, above all, the Cheapest Establishment f its kind in the state. That during that time other lothing Stores have attempted to compete with it is his city, and one after another have busted. The pro-rietor of the Oldest Clothing House in the City feels that he has now the right to say it is as firmly fix at as a rock and as immovable as the everlasting hills l as a rock and as immovable as the s knows the truth of what he says.

The People of Rock County re his witnesses. They will not lie; nor is he unde the necessity of attempting to enforce A BOGUS LAW upon them, to get them to purchase their Fall and Winter Clothing from him. He has just returned from the east, where Largest and Best Stock of Clothing of every description, with Pants and Vests to match, as well as any quantity of

Shirts, Collars, Cravats, Handkerciefs, Stocks, Under Shirts, and every article of Wearing Apparrel that man can want.

If to "mitigate crime and alleviate the sufferings omankind generally," by high sounding pretenses is a circus, then the proprietor of the Original Young America Clothing House does not claim that virtue. He is ready to do what he promises, The Propile Know In, and the thousands whehave purchased, for years, their Clothing from him from the best quality of Hatsand Caps down to Draws and Socks, never would know what the "EXTRAVAGANT PRICES," eant, were they not to stray accidentally into other tablishments pretending to compete with him.

His Merchant Tailoring Department is unsurpassed, and his accomplished cutter, MR. A. B. MC'LEAN who is at the head of it, is a gentleman of long experience and most excellent taste; the well dressed gentlemen of this city are walking witnesses of his concederskill. CAPITAL AND SUBBLUS,

TATIR above are First Class, justify popular, and prompt
I paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no ru periors. They are bunded upon the very best seem lifes in the world—first class lands and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—secutities that have not, for the past ten yours, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railread, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the finetuations of the market, and liable, us times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become aimost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one raded statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid. We suppose that the opinions of Mr. Line West coln, which Mr. Douglas thinks Leadle to tast the Constitution and the Union, are those in regard to the power of Congress to exclude slavery from the Territories. But Mr. Douglas says this is a question for the supreme court. The President appoints the judges and in case of the election of Lincoln he may, in the ordinary course of nature, have an opportunity to appoint a majority of the court. Then his opinions, which are hostile to the Constitution and the Union, will by a judicial decision become a part of the Constitution. Still Mr. Douglas would be compelled to sustain him, although he had subverted the Constitution because he had committed no "overt act."

We hardly know what Mr. Douglas meant by telling the Virginians that he would take just as much pleasure in hanging Lincoln if he transcended his constitutional powers, as he felt pleasure in knowing that they hung John Brown." We do not know how a man can feel pleasure in knowing that any man was hanged or take pleasure in being a hangman. It is a very low, as well as a very brutal pleasure. But if the President can appoint the court whose decisions make the constitution, how can be possibly transcend his constitutional powers? Yet, Mr. Douglas promises to stand by a President in subverting the constitution and anticipates pleasure in hanging the southerners who may stand by the integrity of that instrument.

If the supreme court has supreme power over constitutional and political question, then the election of a President, who appoints the judges, and whose opinions are hostile to the constitution and the Union, is an overt act against both; and instead of waiting till the inauguration, and till the constitution and Union have both passed into the power of an enemy to them, the south should secede at once. It is, according to Mr. Douglas' own theory of govern- 7.00 P. M ment, the only way to defend the constitu-will remain inactive until the Union and the constitution and the appointment of the supreme court have passed into the power of one who, he says, is hostile to the constitution and Union, merely because they differed in regard to the policy of nominating him. Really, if Mr. Lincoln is what Mr. England, and Rudson River road for New York. Douglas represents him, his running for the Presidency, is an "overt act," and Mr. Douglas is logically bound by his own declaration, to claim the pleasure of hanging him now.

Furthermore, if our constitution is subect to a supreme court, which may be appointed by a President who is hostile to it, the sooner it is overthrown the better. If that is what our "glorious fabric of government" has come to, then, if the southerners will lead off in such a revolution, they will deserve to be classed with Hancock, and Jefferson, and Henry, and John Adams, and the rest of the Revolutionary patriots.

The wicks having been adjusted truly in the long axis of the mould, the locomotive advances and deposits in each line of moulds exactly material enough to fill them, proceeding regularly from one end of the bench to the other. After a sufficient time has elapsed to allow them to cool preparations are made to withdraw them from their moulds. This is done in a very ingenious manner. In an apartment close at hand, an iron boiler of great thickness is filled with highly compressed air, by a pump worked by a steam engine; pipes from this powerful motive communicate with every distinct candle mould, and convey to it a pressure of air equal to forty five pounds to the square inch, about the surface of the diameter of the caudle .-Those candle moulds and the air pump con-THE subscriber has opened in Janorvillo, on Jackson street, opposite the Presbyterian Church, in the rear of the Hyatt House, a new carriage manufactory, where he will be ready at all times to manufacture to order stitute an immense air gun containing thousands of barrels, each barrel loaded with a pool: sands of barrels, each barrel loaded with a candle. PERSONAL .-- Miss Dix the philanthropist, is now visiting Wiscomin. Last Sabbath she addressed the pupils at the blind institute, and yesterday visted the county poor house. She expresse herself highly pleased with both these inititutions.

JANESVILLE MILLERS .- The Albany Times says that the mill of the west side of the river, in that village, owned by A. Kellogg & Son, has just been rented by Messrs. Wood & Russell," These gentlemen are experienced miller, having formerly run the Big Mill" at Janesville, and understand 29 their business Jeli.

FALL IS COUNG !-- To day gives unmistakeable evidence of the approach of fall. A cold wind i blowing which makes a thick coat a necessty in the street, and a chilly atmosphere enders a fire a luxury in the house or ofce.

The window caps have been placed on the forth stury of Myers' new block, today. Tey are certainly very tasty, and add ver much to the appearance of the structue. The completion of it is rapidly approphing, and but a short time will elapse comparatively, before it will be readyor occupancy.

MR TURNER'S SCHOOL -- Parents who. wish to advantages of such a school as Prof. urner's at Sauk city will find all they desire that institution. He has several 40 | pupils om this vicinity, whose progress and attainmnts fully attest the high character of the shoot.

GOV. EWARD AT MILTON. - While on his way to adison, Gov. Seward was received by sevel hundred persons at the Milton Junctionnelluding the Milton wide-awakes. He brie responded to a call upon him and washlowed by Gen. Nye and Charles F. Adan Three rousing cheers were giv en as therain left the depot.

It is ciulated by the best judges that England will have to import produce to the vie of full $45,000,000 between now and a end of the year.

Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compromise.

From Dauglas' Speech in Springfield, III., 1850. From Dauglas' Speech in Springfield, III., 1860.

The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious. Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacked thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to distant.

From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. [Cheers,] I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know upon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and properly of every kind (including states) in the ter-ritories during their territorial state."—Herschel V. Johnson.

From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860. From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1880.

"It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected shavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into stave territory, more than five times the size of the state of New York.—Under this doctrine slavery has been extended from the Rio Grands to the Gulf of Culifornia, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 88 deg. On min. but up to 88 deg.—giving you a degree and a half more slave territory than you ever claimed."

"Have You Heard the News from Maine?"

Look in our telegraphic column, and tell us what you think now about the state going for Douglas and the democracy.

The Power of Congress over the Ter-

The sovereign power of congress over the national territories we affirm was never disputed previous to 1847, when Lewis Cass, then the democratic candidate for the Presidency, gave birth in his famous Nicholson letter to squatter sovereignty or non-intervention. It was a doctrine practically carried out by the first congress under the federal constitution by the passage of the celebrated Ordinance of 1787—a measure that dedicated the great northwest to freedom and made her the granary and store-house of the nation. The territorial bills of Washington and Oregon in which were embodied slavery restrictions, go also to show the power that congress has exercised in the control of the territories. The organic act for the territory of Oregon received the official signature of James K. Polk, then President of the United States, a slave-holdder and a zealous advocate for human bondage. The same doctrine has been affirmed by the supreme court of the United States, and by the learned opinions of such eminent jurists as Chief Justice Marshall, Justices Story and Barbour. Judge Story in his exposition of the constitution and especially upon the clause-"That congress shall have power to make all needful rules and regulations for territories," says "The by purchase or conquest, must necessarily carry along with it the power to regulate and govern that which they have acquired."

Again in 1846 this doctrine was endorsed by the house of representatives by the passage of the Wilmot proviso, and the senate would have done the same had it not been on the eve of adjournment. The Wilmot what has already been published, the adproviso embodying the same principles as ditional reports being a narrative of personthe Jeffersonian ordinance of 1787, was endorsed by every northern state with the exception of Iowa. It was sanctioned by state legislatures and by the state conventions of both whig and democratic parties at the north as the true cardinal doctrine of their political creed upon the slavery question. The position taken by the leading statesmen of the country both north and south previous to 1848 was that the American people were the proprietors of the national territories acquired by the common treasure of the republic, and that their representatives in congress were the trustees or guardians of the territories while in their infancy until they had attained the requisite population and resources to enable them to clothe themselves with state sovereignty, as a part and parcel of the federal Union .-Senator Douglas gave it his hearty indorsement in an able speech in the senate in 1858, and in 1849 in his Springfield speech he declared that the Missouri compact restricting slavery from all the Louisiana purchase north of 36° 30', had harmonised both north and south and calmed the waves of slavery agitation, and had been acquiesced in so long that it had become canonized in the hearts of the American people.

In fact, there is no end to the proof, to her power over the territories of the Union. The supreme court of the United States have so declared by repeated decisions .--Congress, ever since our organization as a government, down to 1848, have so declared it, by numerous acts and measures. The keep around the house.

decisions of the courts, both state and federal, have been to the same effect until the decision of the supreme court in the Dred Scott case, which is the only one in opposition to the long chain of precedents and decisions in the past history of the government. Statesmen and eminent jurists, of both sections of our common country, have given it their unqualified endorsment. It was the doctrine of the fathers-of Washington, Jefferson, and Madison. It was also the doctrine of both the whig and democratic parties, receiving no opposition until Cass, in his Nicholson letter, inaugarated a new era in our political history. The repeal of the Missouri restriction, in 1854, by sin. This work is indicated by the Albany the passage of the Kansas and Nebraska act, made the organization of a new party a political necessity. A large majority of the old whig party at the north and a large portion of the northern democracy united upon the doctrine of Thomas Jefferson that " freedom is national and slavery sectional," powers and sovereignty of a state government. In 1856 the people of the northern states in national convention inaugurated and set in motion the republican party.-Its purpose and aim is not to interfere with paign. the rights of the slave holding states, but to preserve the remainder of the national domain free from the stain and curse of human bondage. of every citizen of the republic.

The Madison Journal publishes the order of arrangements for the meeting to-morrow.

The various delegations of people, arriving by both railroad and by carriages from the country, will be escorted to the general head-quarters by one or more marshals, after which a location will be assigned each delegation. The procession will move at two o'clock from the republican head quarters, and arrive at the place of meeting at 3 o'clock, when the speaking will immediately commence.

Assistant marshals will be in attendance to take charge of each delegation as it arrives and conduct it to the post assigned it. The Madison Wide Awakes will receive the Wide Awake companies from the varions parts of the state, at the depot, on the 'arrival of the cars, and escort them to their head-quarters in the Capitol Park,

A torch-light procession will be formed in the evening, the different companies present assembling at the capitol park at 7 o'clock. It is understood that in addition to Sen-

SENATOR SEWARD AND ABRAHAM LIN-COLN. -- An effort has been persistently made to endeavor to prove that Senator Seward felt very cold towards Lincoln. A brief speech he made to a Detroit Wide-Awake club, puts that slander to rest. He then said-in language that no one could misunderstand:

Go on, then, and do your work. Put this great cause into the keeping of your great, honest, worthy leader, Abraham Lincoln. (A voice—"The irrepressible conflict.")-Believe me sincere when I say, that if it had devolved upon me to select, from all men in the United States, a man to whom 1 would confide the standard of this cause which is the object for which I have lived and for which I would be willing to die-that man would have been Abraham Lincoln.

As Usual.-The Madison Patriot announced that lawyer Widvey, a Norwegian republican of that city, had renounced republicanism and come out for Douglas .-Whereupon Mr. Widvey requests the Madison State Journal to state that he has done nothing of the kind.

This is a pretty fair sample of the whole lot of reported changes from Lincoln to Douglas. Whenever a name or locality is establish the rights of congress to exercise given, a refutation or denial is very apt to > MAINE ELECTION.—The state of Maine helds an election to-morrow. It has been for years a strong republican state, and is claimed to be good for 20,000 majority by the republican papers there.—Mil. News.

Yet we remember distinctly of seeing in the News a claim that the state would elect the democratic candidate for governor and go for Douglas.

The contest in the northern states is he ween Douglas and Lincoln, and a vote which is not thrown directly for one or the other, is worse than thrown away.-Peoria Union.

Granting that this is true, every man of common discretion must see that Douglas can carry none of these "northern states," and therefore a vote which is not thrown directly for Liucoln, "is worse than thrown away.

And even if there was a chance of Douglas carrying one or two northern states-(and his more candid supporters don't claim any more)—every vote that will be east here for any other candidate than Lincoln, will still be "worse than thrown away," for it would be thrown in favor of takig the election of a president out of the States senate, where Joe Lane would be chosen by the fire eaters.

A vote for Douglas is a vote for Joe

Illinois voters, who feel any state pride in the matter, have but one question to ask themselves: Shall we cast our votes for Douglas, who cannot possibly be elected, or shall we vote for Lincoln, who, only, of the two Illinois and western candidates, can be elected .- Chicago Journal.

OUT FOR BRECKINRIDGE .- Now that the proposition to unite the whole party in Connecticut has failed, the Hartford Times, which has hitherto kept non-committed, comes out with the names of Breckinridge and Lane at the head of its columns, and publishes a call for a mass convention at New Haven on the 12th of September, to rominate electors.

AN ANCIENT SEAPORT BROUGHT TO LIGHT .- Signor Visconti, assisted by his son, is restoring to the light of day the ancient gate of Rome, the famous Ostia, and has already uncovered the dockyards; the marts, where still are to be seen the earthen pots, with weights; a theatre, a beautiful temple, baths, a gymnasium, a square, a gate of the city, and, above all, a most in teresting "mitreo," one of the most perfect which Italy, or perhaps the world possesses.

Mr. Douglas is to be in Chicago on the 4th of October.

From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill , 1850. The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious Union—on origin akin to that of the constitution of the United States, conceivto that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no rubbless hand would ever be reckless enough to the control of the same control of the same

My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. [Cheers] I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know apon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPRAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including slaves) in the territories during their territorial state."—Herschel V.

From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 1860.

It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under that doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into slave territory, more than five times the size of the slate of New Fork.—Under this doctrine slavery have been extended from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 3d deg. 30 min, but up to 88 deg.—piring you a degree and a half more slave territory than you ever claimed."

The Power of Congress over the Ter-ritories.

The sovereign power of congress over the national territories we affirm was never disputed previous to 1847, when Lewis Cass. by the supreme court of the United States, and by the learned opinions of such eminent jurists as Chief Justice Marshall, Justices Story and Barbour. Judge Story in his exposition of the constitution and especially upon the clause-"That congress shall have power to make all needful rules and regulations for territories," says "The right of congress to acquire territory either by purchase or conquest, must necessarily carry along with it the power to regulate by the house of representatives by the passage of the Wilmot provise, and the senate would have done the same had it not been on the eve of adjournment. The Wilmot provise embodying the same principles as the Jeffersonian ordinance of 1787, was endorsed by every northern state with the exception of Iowa. It was sanctioned by state legislatures and by the state conventions of both whig and democratic parties at the north as the true cardinal doctrine of their political creed upon the slavery question. The position taken by the leading statesmen of the country both north and south previous to 1848 was that the American people were the proprietors of the national territories acquired by the common treasure of the republic, and that their renresentatives in congress were the trustees or guardians of the territories while in their infancy until they had attained the requisite population and resources to enable them to clothe themselves with state sovereignty, as a part and parcel of the federal Union .-Canator Donglas gave it his hearty indorsement - an able speech in the senate in 1838, and to very in his Springfield speech he declared that the Missouri compact restricting slavery from all un Louisiana purchase north of 36° 30', had harmonised both north and south and calmed the waves of slavery agitation, and had been acquiesced in so long that it had become canonized in the hearts of the American people.

In fact, there is no end to the proof, to establish the rights of congress to exercise her power over the tarritories of the Union. The supreme court of the United States decisions of the courts, both state and federal, have been to the same effect until the decision of the supreme court in the Dred Scott case, which is the only one in opposition to the long chain of precedents and decisions in the past history of the government. Statesman and emirant jurists of both sections of our comport country, and given it their unqualified endorsment. It was the doctrine of the fathers-of Washington, Jefferson, and Madison. It was also the doctrine of both the whig and democratic parties, receiving no opposition until Cass, in his Nicholson letter, inaugurated a new era in our political history. The repeal of the Missouri restriction, in 1854, by the passage of the Kansas and Nebraska act, made the organization of a new party a political necessity. A large majority of the old whig party at the north and a large portion of the northern democracy unifed upon the doctrine of Thomas Jefferson that " freedom is national and slavery sectional," and that congress has the sovereign power over the territories until clothed with the powers and sovereignty of a state government. In 1856 the people of the northern states in national convention inaugurated and set in motion the republican party.-Its purpose and aim is not to interfere with paign. the rights of the slave holding states, but to preserve the remainder of the national ition of Thomas Jefferson, that congress very, there can be no fear of the result. The constitution as framed by the fathers must be maintained. Slavery however much it may add to the wealth and avarice of the slaveholder, must not be allowed to interfere with constitutional rights. Whatever may come and whatever may be the result, were present. the republican party of the country are inflexibly determined to stand by the union of every citizen of the republic.

Arrangements for the Madison Meeting.

The Madison Journal publishes the order of arrangements for the meeting to-morrow. The various delegations of people, arriving by both railroad and by carriages from the country, will be escorted to the general head-quarters by one or more marshals, after which a location will be assigned each delegation. The procession will move at two o'clock from the republican head quarters, and arrive at the place of meeting at 3 o'clock, when the speaking will immediately commence.

Assistant marshals will be in attendance o take charge of each delegation as it arrives and conduct it to the post assigned it. The Madison Wide Awakes will receive Look in our telegraphic column, and tell | the Wide Awake companies from the vari. us what you think now about the state go- ous parts of the state, at the depot, on the arrival of the cars, and escort them to their head-quarters in the Capitol Park.

A torch-light procession will be formed in the evening, the different companies present assembling at the capitol park at 7 o'clock.

It is understood that in addition to Senator Seward, Charles Frank Adams of Mass., Gen. Nye, and Gov. Patterson of New York. Senator Doolittle, Gov. Randall, Secretary Harvey and other eloquent speakers of our | tions' own state will be present, so that there will oon or evening.

"BILL OF INDICTMENT AGAINST DOUG-LAS."—This is the subject of a speech that Carl Schurz is to deliver in New York city on the 13th inst. The Wisconsin says that a gentleman of Milwaukee, who has been permitted to glance over it, thinks it is even superior to his St. Louis speech, and will have greater effect in the campaign, particularly upon many of his countrymen who are so blindly attached to the little giant. It will occupy about two hours in its delivery, and it is unmerciful towards Donglas. Mr. Schurz is doing a great work for

The exact number of the lost will probably never be known.

SENATOR SEWARD AND ABRAHAM LIN-COLN.-An effort has been persistently made to endeavor to prove that Senator Seward felt very cold towards Lincoln. A brief speech he made to a Detroit Wide-Awake club, puts that slander to rest. He then said-in language that no one could misun-

As Usual.-The Madison Patriot an. nounced that lawyer Widvey, a Norwegian republican of that city, had renounced republicanism and come out for Douglas,-Whereupon Mr. Widvey requests the Madison State Journal to state that he has done nothing of the kind.

This is a pretty fair sample of the whole lot of reported changes from Lincoln to Douglas. Whenever a name or locality is given, a refutation or denial la very apt to Local Meetings.

What is good or necessary work in New-York is good or necessary work in Wiscon-Evening Journal, when it says:

"Local meetings are among the most useful and effective agencies of a campaign. No matter how restricted the circuit. If there could be a meeting in every school district, so much the better. But there should be one or two meetings held in every town. This work should be begun at once; and IT IS FOR THE COMMIT-TEES TO BEGIN IT.

The preliminary steps towards the formation of a league of this character were taken, and a constitution and by-laws adopted.

And even if there was a chance of Douglas carrying one or two northern states-(and his more candid supporters don't claim any more)-every vote that will be cast here for any other candidate than Lincoln, will still be "worse than thrown away," for it would be thrown in favor of taking the election of a president out of the and entrusting it to the pro-slavery United States senate, where Joe Lane would be

It was a doctrine practically carried out by the first congress under the federal constitution by the passage of the celebrated Ordinance of 1787-a measure that dedicated the great northwest to freedom and made her the granary and store-house of the nation. The territorial bills of Washington and Oregon in which were embodied slavery restrictions, go also to show the power that congress has exercised in the control of the territories. The organic act for the territory of Oregon received the official signature of James K. Polk, then President of the United States, a slave-holdder and a zealous advocate for human bondage. PERSONAL.-Miss Dix, the philanthropist, is now visiting Wisconsin. Last Sabbath she addressed the pupils at the blind institute, and yesterday visited the county poor house. She expresses herself highly pleased with both these institutions.

JANESVILLE MILLERS.-The Albany Times says that the mill on the west side of the river, in that village, owned by A. Kellogg & Son, has just been rented by Messrs. Wood & Russell. These gentlemen are experienced millers, having formerly run the Big Mill" at Janesville, and understand 29their business well.

FALL IS COMING !-To-day gives unmistakeable evidence of the approach of fall. A cold wind is blowing which makes a thick coat a necessity in the street, and a chilly atmosphere renders a fire a luxury in the house or office.

The window caps have been placed on the fourth story of Myers' new block, today. They are certainly very tasty, and add very much to the appearance of the structure. The completion of it is rapidly approaching, and but a short time will elapse, comparatively, before it will be ready for occupancy.

MR. TURNER'S SCHOOL .- Parents who wish the advantages of such a school as Prof. Turner's at Sauk city will find all they desire at that institution. He has several pupils from this vicinity, whose progress and attainments fully attest the high character

Gov. SEWARD AT MILTON .- While on his way to Madison, Gov. Seward was received by several hundred persons at the Milton Junction, including the Milton wide-awakes. He briefly responded to a call upon him, and was followed by Gen. Nve and Charles F. Adams. Three rousing cheers were given as the train left the depot.

It is calculated by the best judges that England will have to import produce to the value of full $45,000,000 between now and the end of the year
